

HOPE GROUP 2026

Cancer patients, survivors and caregivers are often overwhelmed. But you don't have to journey alone. CEFC HOPE Group is a community that offers mutual support, prayers and encouragement that will strengthen your faith, build friendships and help you find hope in your cancer journey.

HOPE Group is open to Covenanters and their friends.

Cry Out

Hold Fast to God
in our Healing & Discipleship

Returning to God's Heart and Commission

When cancer enters your life, it can feel like you've been sent into a foreign land of fear, fatigue, and uncertainty. In this difficult "exile," it's easy to feel that God is distant, that your prayers are unheard, and that you must face this alone.

But what if God's heart has been crying out for you all along?

This series is an invitation to discover that powerful truth. Based on the profound stories of people found in the Minor Prophets, who also felt discouraged and forgotten, we will explore how the "Cry Out" journey is not a cry into a silent void - it is our response to a God who is fiercely present, deeply compassionate, and actively at work in our pain.

"Cry Out" is an invitation to bring your whole, honest self before God - the fear, the fatigue, the questions, and the hope. This is not about having a "perfect" faith, but a dependent one. It's about learning to hold fast to the God who is fiercely holding on to you.

"Cry Out" is for anyone who is weary of fighting alone and longs to find a purpose that not only endures this journey but is refined by it. Come.

Find God in the valley.
